Everybody's Talking!

Quite a tumble: A man was hiking on some rocky trails near Pettit Tor Point in Torquay, Devon, England. He decided to scramble close to the edge of a cliff, thinking it was a safe thing to do. He must have been overwhelmed with the coastal view, because he lost his footing and fell 200 feet (70 meters) toward the rocks below. This tale could have had a very sad ending, but luckily for the hiker, branches and shrubbery broke his fall. He landed on a ledge near the water, narrowly missing jagged rocks. He was able to call for help on his cell phone and was flown by helicopter to a hospital in nearby Plymouth, England, with non-life-threatening injuries.

Added security: A car rental company in Sursee, Switzerland rents out some of its vehicles for an unusual reason - to act as a security system for homeowners. Some vehicles in the company's fleet were painted to look like police cars and vacationing homeowners can have one left in their driveway so that it appears that a cop lives there. The concept came about when company owner, Anders Birrer, used the idea as a stunt for an ad. When people actually started calling to inquire about the service, he realized it was an idea worth pursuing. Renters pay for the service and the cars are delivered on a truck because it is illegal for the general public to drive a police car.

Glue job: A woman in the Otago region of New Zealand's South Island will likely rearrange her medicine cabinet after finding herself in an unfortunate situation. She got up in the middle of the night to get lip balm for her sore lips and, while in the darkened bathroom, grabbed a tube of super glue instead. After applying the glue, she couldn't open her mouth. Oops! The next problem was trying to get the emergency operator to understand her dilemma as she couldn't speak properly. Luckily, the operator called for help and the woman was taken to the hospital where the medical staff managed to remove the glue by using paraffin oil.

Long marriage: If you want to have a long and happy marriage, sit down every morning and eat a pancake breakfast together. That is the secret to the 75-year marriage of Robert and Doris Moody, who today are both nonagenarians and are still loving life as a couple. They met in grade school and live in Gulfport, Mississippi (US). Early in their marriage, Doris realized that Robert loved pancakes, so she treated him to them every day. Although they've experienced difficult times over the years, including the loss of their house in a hurricane, the pair believes that by treating each other nicely and not worrying about the small stuff it was leads to a long-lasting relationship.

Did You Know...

Long climb: Climbers planning to reach the summit of Mount Everest can count on ascending for about 12 hours from the highest base camp on the mountain. Once at the summit, they will find it very cold, as the temperature never rises above freezing.

Hair helper: Blow dryers are a hair-styling tool used by many people each day. The first one was available only in hair salons and was invented by a Frenchman named Alexander Godefray in 1890. Because it was not portable, women would sit under it to dry their locks.

White birds: Snowy owls live in the Arctic tundra and in northern parts of Canada, Alaska and Eurasia. Males are white, while females are white with some dark spots. A snowy owl's favorite meal is a lemming, but it finds other small rodents quite tasty, as well.

Cold lovers: Many humans live in cold climates, but only one other primate can handle the cold - the Japanese macaque, also known as the snow monkey. The habitat of these little primates ranges from subtropical to subarctic regions of Japan's islands.

On the Lighter Side

Happiness can't be learned and it can't be forced. The feet may learn the steps, but only the soul can truly dance.

Money: The mint makes it first and it's up to us to make it last. Only the most foolish cat would escape a dog by hiding in its kennel; but only the smartest dog would think to look there.

A cowboy dressed up in newspaper, but was arrested for rustling.

Grandpa: "Joey, you shouldn't say, 'I ain't going.' You should say, 'I am not going.' 'He is not going.' They are not going." "We are not going." "You are not going."

Joey: "Ain't nobody going?"

YOUTH is not a time of life, it is a state of mind.
